

LibriVox

Jesse Lyman Hurlbut

Hurlbut's Story of the Bible Part Seven

By Jesse Lyman Hurlbut (1843-1930)

Some years ago, the editor of an English magazine sent a communication to “the hundred greatest men in Great Britain” asking them this question: “If for any reason you were to spend a year absolutely alone, in a prison for instance, and could select from your library three volumes to be taken with you as companions in your period of retirement please to inform us what those three books would be.” The inquiry was sent to peers of the realm, prominent leaders in politics, judges, authors, manufacturers, merchants, gentlemen of leisure—men who would represent every aspect of successful life. In the answers it was found that ninety-eight of the hundred men named “The Bible” first on the list of the three books to be chosen. (From Book introduction)

Read by Esther, Kristine Bekere, Sibella Denton, Ezwa, Sean McGaughey, David Lawrence, humeangel, webround, Laura Caldwell, & John Lieder. Total running time: 02:55:07.

This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit librivox.org. Cover lithograph by the Providence Lithograph Company (1907). Copyright expired in US, Canada, EU, and all countries with author's life +70 yrs laws. Cover design by Janette Brown. This design is in the public domain.

Hurlbut's Story of the Bible Part Seven

Hurlbut's Story of the Bible Part Seven